Align Business Systems with the Business Plan

When you consider the connection of your operational capabilities (day-to-day efforts) to the strategic vision, how well are they aligned? Zanett offers Strategic Services that align business systems and the strategic business plan, a roadmap of projects to regain alignment.

› Why “Project / Program Management Services”?

- › Align business systems with your organization’s strategic objectives and mission
- › Establish a cohesive thought-out plan for business systems that makes sense
- › Assure that business systems across the organization are compatible, share common data, and work together
- › Identify areas for potential improvement
- › Position information technology to help accomplish your mission

› Unified Priorities for Strategic Growth

Zanett helps you align business systems to better support the business strategy. Zanett helps you develop a solid plan to consolidate operations on an integrated, well thought-out set of business processes and software tools. We help you implement a business focused set of systems that are lean, compliant, and available that optimize the business and provides speed, quality, and flexibility.

When you are concerned over growing business, shrinking margins, integration of acquired systems, replacement of obsolete or aging technologies you need a seasoned partner to help them create a viable approach to resolving their concerns. Zanett partners with you and guides you through the process of ensuring key business processes are supported by the right level of technology investment. Our process starts with an understanding of the enterprise strategic plan and supporting operational components.

Using a unique set of valuation models, interviews with key stakeholders, creates maps of key business processes and measures the relative need for IT investment based on planned growth and current challenges. Each business process is tied back to a supporting strategic pillar and each technological element is tied back to a key business process. Business processes are prioritized into a roadmap developed to bolster organizational strengths and shore up key processes.

Zanett aligns business systems with the business strategy.
